

The Pig Who Didn't Want To Take A Bath

By Kate Pederson

Once upon a time there was a little pig whose name was Annie. She loved to sit in the mud and splash, and she loved to dance and sing.

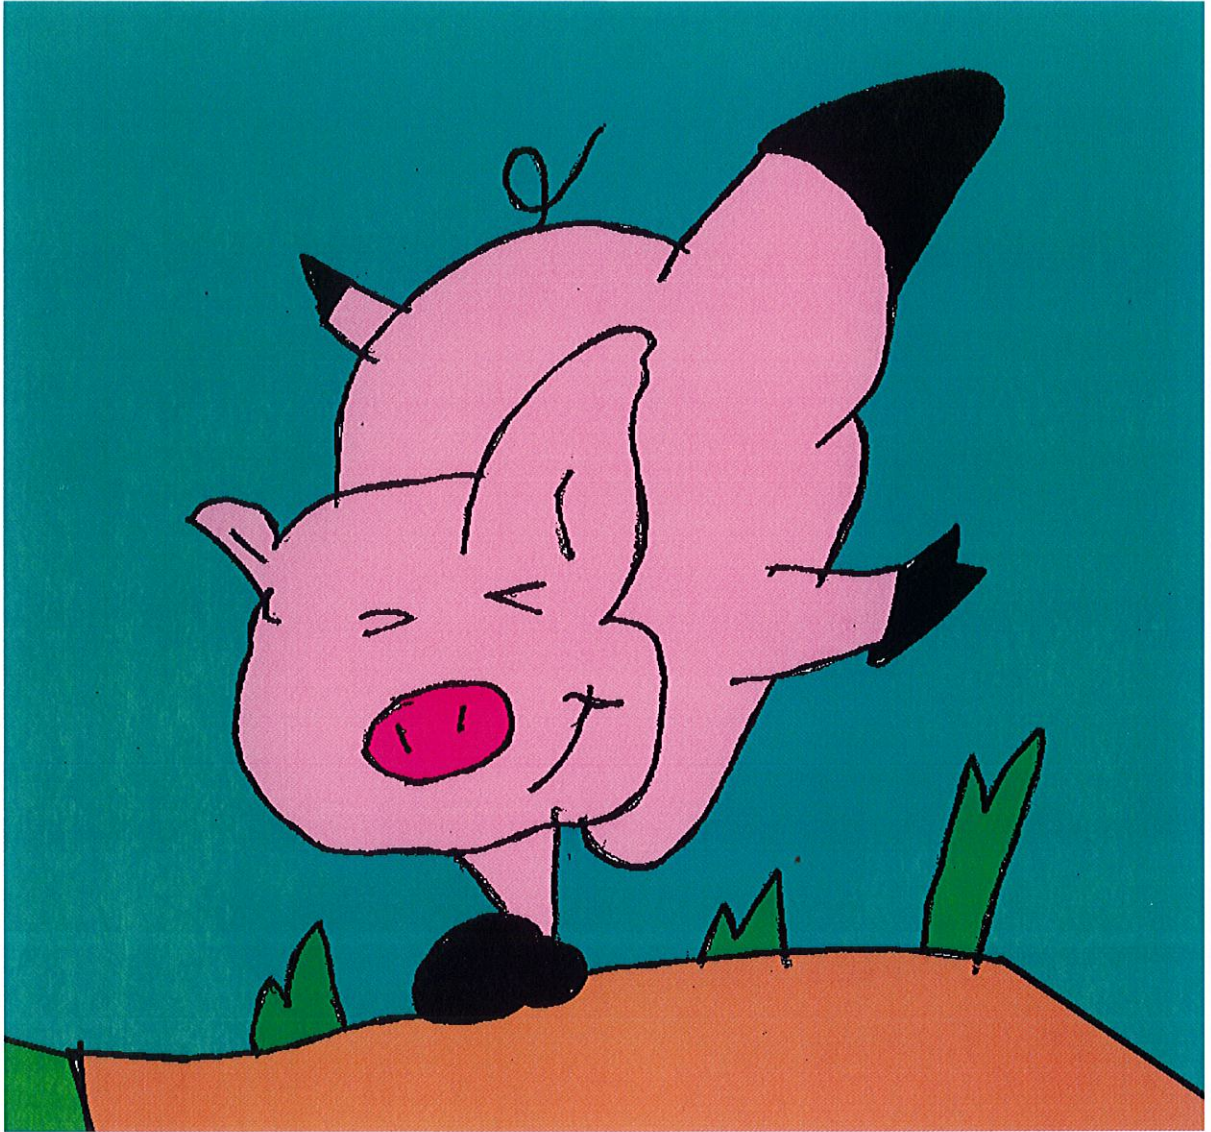

Then one day the farmer said, "You need to come and take a bath." But Annie liked being dirty. The farmer said she had to, and then he said there was tons of bubbles.

So she thought for a minute, and then she ran! "Bubbles! How did he know I love bubbles?" Annie jumped in the tub with a humongous splash. It was nice and warm. There were so many bubbles they were floating everywhere!

After that she was good as new and clean as glass, and the farmer said she had to go back to her little shed. She was so happy that she was clean that she danced!

The End